SEAL FISHERS.

Triumph of Reason Over Which the World Should Rejoice.

That Is What an English Paper Terms the Behring Sea Decision.

GREAT BRITAIN UPHELD AT EVERY POINT OF CONTENTION.

America From the Outset Had Not a Leg to Rest Upon—Stood for Privileges Contrary to the Common Rights of Mankind—United States Patted on the Shoulder—Canadians Not So Jubilant—Think the Result Unfortunate for Them—How Americans View It—For Sign Now.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The impression prevailing here regarding the decision of the Behring Sea Arbitration Tribunal is that Great Britain has won at every point and has been unquestionably vindicated in every contention. The general sentiment is voiced by the following press comment:

The Standard says: We are sure America will accept the award in cheerful good humor and apply it in perfect good faith. Nothing was left untried by either side to win the verdict, and in pronouncing the decision the tribunal has only affirmed and applied one of the best known and hitherto most unchallenged principles of international law.

The Daily Chronicle says: We feel sentiments of profound gratitude at the full settlement of the difficulty which once threatened to involve the rival interests of three powers. The arbitration is a triumph of reason and humanity over which the civilised world should rejoice. It is good for the world to know that Englishmen have not desired or claimed a single thing that the tribunal has not decided to be in perfect accordance with reason and justice. America from the outset had not had a leg to stand upon. Its case has been altered half a dozen times. It picked and chose evidence to suit its arguments. Part of its case rested on forgeries and it stood out for rights which would infringe on the common rights of mankind. Its council made the best possible defense of its preposterous claims, but all their combined eloquence and learning and ingenuity had only the effect that the arbitrators decided against it on every point. We are not disposed to criticise the proposed regulations, without which the seal would soon become extinct. They will soon leave America a pretty bill of compensation to pay the North American Commercial Co. The American people, we are sure, are large-minded enough to accept the verdict with composure.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: The award is satisfactory to England and need not be regretted by the United States. It ratifies the results of the trial in both its freedom and undisturbed. The stability of this primary law of nations is of more value than the United States can possibly imagine. The claim which will result in the preservation of the seals, is wise, humane and far-reaching. It may cause a present falling off in the commerce of the north Pacific, but to the world's regular supply of a precious luxury.

The St. James Gazette ridicules the idea that the award is a triumph for Great Britain or for international arbitration. The American people, it says, would never have gone to war for such an absurdity. The claim was a mere clause in a commission of British, Canadian and American representatives.

The Globe says: The United States got the largest share of the spoils.

The Times of the morning opposition journal, says: It scarcely seems possible to accurately judge the effect of the award on the Canadian end of the industry until those who are interested in it are heard from. One thing is very apparent. The regulations ought not to be too severely disapproving in this very profitable calling are abridged in the slightest degree. The inhabitants of the 100,000 animals years and the American Treasury will be enriched $500,000 to $400,000 a year as rental and the royalty on franchises. The whole amount can at least constitute themselves that although the decision goes against their attitude of to-day, it amply sustains the position of yesterday. The Grays and Evans, in relation to free navigation of the ocean in years gone by. The regulations which the two may be agreed upon, will all maritime nations to be effective, are obviously compromised. The arbitrators appear to have decided that it would meet both half way, but would not meet both half way. The archbishop received them kindly and induced his deputation to consider the concluding come St. Louis early in September.

Will Sue for Divorce.

Upon the recommendation of Matron Harriet Powers, the unfortunate woman whose husband deserted her after attempting to inveigle her into leading an immoral life, the mother of two children, she points. Although the decision is one which completely vindicates Great Britain's contention, the witness (Liberal) says the decision is not a complete victory for either Canada or the United States. It declares it amounts to little condemnation of the United States for its failure to make its claim for compensation for taking seals either in Behring sea or in the Pacific Ocean. On the other hand the regulations adopted concerning hunting and use of firearms will greatly hinder the success of Canadian hunters.

Montreal, Aug. 16.—The Gazette (Government), in a long editorial on the Behring sea decisions, says that the British claims have been substantially confirmed, but that the points. Although the decision is one which completely vindicates Great Britain's contention, the witness (Liberal) says the decision is not a complete victory for either Canada or the United States. It declares it amounts to little condemnation of the United States for its failure to make its claim for compensation for taking seals either in Behring sea or in the Pacific Ocean. Ottawa, Ontario, Aug. 16.—Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, acting premier, has received the

WILSON BILL.

The Debate on That Measure Resumed in the House.

Senate Morning Hour Largely Occupied With Government Buildings.

OVERLOADING OF THEM WITH BOOKS AND DOCUMENTS DISCUSSED.

Mr. Vest Proposed a Remedy by the Passage of a Bill Appropriating $500,000 for a Building to Be Known as the Hall of Records—Bourke Cochran's Marked Absence From the Anti-Silver Men's Meeting—Congressional Gossip.

Washington, Aug. 16.—In the House, after adopting a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for information respecting silver purchases, the bill on the Wilson bill was resumed, Mr. McCall (Rep.), of Massachusetts, speaking for the bill.

The World says: This country may well be satisfied with the decision of the Behring Sea arbitrators in Paris yesterday. It is against the United States on every claim to exclusive right, but it calls for the protection of the seals by the joint action of the country and Great Britain, and protection is the substantial advantage we have been seeking.

Mr. McCall was followed by Mr. Coombs of New York. While speaking for the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act, he referred to notes and thereby broke the natural flow of his eloquence.

Mr. Bryan followed Mr. Coombs and attacked the President's message in vigorous terms. The recommendations of the friends meant the burial of silver with no promise of resurrection. They were an argument for the single gold standard. They led to gold monometalism, over whose door was written: "Abandon hope all ye who enter here."

TO REFUND PACIFIC RAILWAY DEBT.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—Frye today introduced in the Senate the bill of the last Congress providing for the refunding of the Pacific Railroad debt.

IN THE SENATE.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—The morning hour in the Senate, after the introduction of bills, was largely occupied by a discussion as to the overloading of Government buildings in Washington with public books and documents.

Mr. Vest (Dem.) of Missouri proposed a remedy by the passage of a bill appropriating $500,000 (plus accrued interest) to the Hall of Records.

Notice was given by Mr. Voorhees, Chairman of the Library Committee, that he would not act on day to day on the bill to allow national banks to increase their circulation to the par value of the bonds deposited by them, but he would do so on the 1st of August.

THE FEDERAL BANKS.

New York, Aug. 16.—Joseph Ullmann, a prominent for importer and dealer, said in reference to the Behring Sea decision: "The decision means that our seal life will be protected. The increased revenues to our Government will more than offset any damages we suffer. As far as the sealers are concerned, as far as the government is concerned, the same sense and for the same reason which accounted Great Britain in carrying out virtually single standard for many years a decade ago.

The sum and substance of the decision is that England has gained a nominal success, while the United States has gained a real and actual triumph.

HOW SEALERS VIEW IT.

Victoria, British Columbia, Aug. 16.—Local sealers, while regarding the decision of the Behring Sea arbitration as favorable as possible, as seeing no compensation for losses suffered by the American sealers, says the regulations will be disastrous as stopping sealing on the coast where the catch is principally taken.

HOW ULLMANN VIEWS IT.

New York, Aug. 16.—Joseph Ullmann, a prominent for importer and dealer, said in reference to the Behring Sea decision: "The decision means that our seal life will be protected. The increased revenues to our Government will more than offset any damages we suffer. The sum and substance of the decision is that England has gained a nominal success, while the United States has gained a real and actual triumph.

HOW COOPER'S VIEWS.

Pacific, Aug. 16.—John W. Foster, the American agent in the Behring Sea arbitration, figures out a decided triumph for the United States in the findings of the court. He says: "True, the United States did not obtain the increased compensation for seals demanded by the British, but the amount is much better than those Mr. Blaine vainly offered to Lord Bryce. The British, however, are to be congratulated on their victory."

Mr. Foster (Dem.) of Arkansas then addressed the Senate in advocacy of the double standard of gold and silver.

WHAT COOPER AND PHELPS THINK.

New York, Aug. 16.—Frederick J. Cooper and Edward J. Phelps, of counsel for the United States in the Behring Sea arbitration say the prohibition of pelagic sealing will give the British a great advantage over the Americans.

The Globe says: The United States got the best of the fight.

The Times of the morning opposition journal, says: It scarcely seems possible to accurately judge the effect of the award on the Canadian end of the industry until those who are interested in it are heard from. One thing is very apparent. The regulations ought not to be too severely disapproving in this very profitable calling are abridged in the slightest degree. Will Sue for Divorce.

Upon the recommendation of Matron Harriet Powers, the unfortunate woman whose husband deserted her after attempting to inveigle her into leading an immoral life, the archbishop a few days ago and learned his wishes as to the reception. The archbishop received them kindly and induced his deputation to consider the concluding come St. Louis early in September.

Indorsed Alteid.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—The International Union of Carriage and Wagon Workers today adopted a resolution endorsing Gov. Alteid's action in pardoning the Anarchists.

The union declared itself also in depreciation of the establishment in the State militia of laboring men.

Following cable from the Premier, Sir John Thompson: Behring Sea arbitration concluded and award delivered. The decision was delivered in London on May 16, 1893. Full sealing prohibited from May 1 to July 1, and dreams forbidden in Behring Sea.

When asked if he thought the decision was fair, he said: "I have not had time to read the decision in full. The award was received. He afterwards added: "Sir John Thompson does not mention any particular reason why he did not mention any as the press dispatches do, and that's an excellent reason to withhold comment. At the same time I have no doubt to doubt the correctness of the press report."

Ottawa, Ontario, Aug. 16.—The Citizen (Government) says: While the arbitrators have solemnly recited their judgment that the decision in the Behring Sea arbitration was fair, nevertheless, adopted provisions for the future government of the industry which practically hand over the industry to the British.

It is possible to too early to draw these large inferences from the necessarily imperfect information conveyed by cable, but it appears at present as though the arbitrators had given up the struggle and handed over the kernal to Uncle Sam.

COMMENT IN NEW YORK.

New York, Aug. 16.—The local papers comment editorially on the Behring Sea decision.

The Herald says: This country may well be satisfied with the decision of the Behring Sea arbitrators in Paris yesterday. It is against the United States on every claim to exclusive right, but it calls for the protection of the seals by the joint action of the country and Great Britain, and protection is the substantial advantage we have been seeking.

Mr. McCall was followed by Mr. Coombs of New York. While speaking for the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act, he referred to notes and thereby broke the natural flow of his eloquence.

Mr. Bryan followed Mr. Coombs and attacked the President's message in vigorous terms.

The recommendations of the friends meant the burial of silver with no promise of resurrection. They were an argument for the single gold standard. They led to gold monometalism, over whose door was written: "Abandon hope all ye who enter here."

AT THE CAMP.

Dr. Russell's Patients Recovering From Their Ailments Rapidly.

Children Who Want to Try Their New Found Strength in All Ways.

EXTREME CASES CAUSE GREAT ANXIETY TO NURSES AND PHYSICIANS.

Next Week's Party to Be Made Up of All the Sick Children That Can Be Found in the City—Applications Passed Upon at This Office—The John A. Mahler's Hall Benefit for the Fund.

Tree View Farm children are, like children elsewhere, given to extremes, and when they begin to recover strength they have to be watched very closely. They are fond of climbing, of disappearing into the woods and of overloading their stomachs. Left to themselves, the older children would make the goat's life most unhappy and the smaller infants take a ride on his back.

Dr. T. J. Russell, who is the physician in charge of the camp, finds the work lighter than during the first two weeks of the camp's existence, when he was in the same capacity. Yet he is not idle. There is work enough to occupy all his time and anxieties that keep him awake at nights.

There are many serious cases, infants near the end of life without ambition enough to cry. The nurses' time is fully employed with those whose condition is so serious that more than a mother's untrained attention is needed.

The air has had its usual effect in recovering those who were only slightly ill and in benefiting those whose maladies had advanced farther. By Monday all but half a dozen will be ready to return to the city.

Monday morning the St. Louis Harbor boat will leave the Diamond Joe wharfboat at 8 o'clock, having or board the patients whose applications have been favorably passed on this week. Nosick child for whom application is made before 5 P.M. tomorrow will be referred unless the child is suffering from a contagious disease. It is necessary that all mothers and children who are to go to the Camp be registered at this office in order that accommodations may be provided for them there. Tickets that have not been registered will not be accepted on the boat.

Every effort is being made to let poor mothers of sick children know of this opportunity and to provide deserving persons with tickets. They will go on the harbor boat to Elsie, a landing thirteen miles above Alton and thence in wagons to the camp on Tree View Farm. They will leave St. Louis at 8 o'clock and arrive at the camp before 2 o'clock. Quarters will be assigned them in the tents or in the farm-house and they will remain there for one week. When the next Monday rolls around they will be returned to the city on the harbor boat, arriving at the wharf before 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

THE CAMP BENEFIT.

Nearly all the tickets printed for the progressive euchre party at John A. Mahler's hall, 220 Lucas avenue, to-morrow night have been sold. There will be no sales at the door except to gentlemen and ladies known to Mr. Mahler or members of the West End Thursday Euchre Club. All of the proceeds will go to the benefit of the Children's Summer Camp. The list of prizes is long and every one was donated. WAR AT THE PARK.

There was a change in the programme at Sportsman's Park last night. Instead of the "Bombardment of Ft. Sumter," which was witnessed by large audiences several nights last week, the naval contest between the Monitor and the Merrimac in Hampton Roads was substituted. The first part of the evening was taken up by specialty people, acrobatic, gymnastic and terpsichorean. There was a quantity of shooting, but the exhibition, compared to the first two or three nights of its presentation, a lot of superfluous work has been cut out and throughout the evening there was a quiet, quiet atmosphere of action. It is this entertainment that can be put into a pocket.

THE CASKY MURDER MYSTERY.

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Aug. 16.—Much of the excitement over the dark tragedy at the Casky camp-meeting Saturday night and the strange disappearance in the darkness of the bodies of the killed and wounded, has subsided, since the body of the slain slave is now known to be that of a boy.

A BOY'S FRIEND ACT.

BRAZER FALLS, Pa., Aug. 16.—Burgess Reed, aged 16; James Reed, aged 14, and Jas. Carney, aged 17, died at Homewood yesterday, the result of a friend act perpetrated by a 17-year-old boy named Frank Gurney. Gurney, alias a man of no particular, placed it in the ground, and when the boys, who were hunting for ground-hogs, approached he fired the fuse and crept away. The car exploded, burning the boys terribly.

UNDER SUSPICION.

POPLAR SPRINGS, Mo., Aug. 16.—Quite a sensation was created here by the arrest of Lou Dowdy and his sister, Mrs. Mary Weller, on suspicion of having been mixed up in the death of the brother of Chief of Police Gardner. The body was run over by a train, but a quantity of money and valuables were missing, and as Dowdy and his sister live in the immediate vicinity they are suspected.

AMUSEMENT TO-NIGHT.

URBIC'S CAVE—"Bohemian Girl."

Shows have been quite general in the Lake region of Michigan and Missouri Valley, most of the Western States. Clear weather prevails in the Atlantic Coast States and the Ohio Valley, elsewhere it is generally cloudy.

Decidedly colder weather is reported from the Western States, elsewhere the temperature changes are slight.

Forecast for Missouri.—Light local rains and thunderstorms, followed by cooler northward winds and fair weather.

Forecast for the Louis for thirty-six hours from 8 a.m. to day: Local rains and thunderstorms, probably clearing to-morrow; cooler to-morrow.

By selecting a ratio of 20 to 1 Senator Vest imperils his reputation as a good gusser.

Is J. STERLING MORTON aware that this year's potato bugs have added cabbage and tomatoes to their menu?

AND we have to pay damages for British vessels scuppered in Behring Sea, as the Post-Dispatch predicted years ago.

MR. CLEVELAND has let up on decapitations, but Major Walbridge is not following shining examples this year.

Dogs what we have got out of the Behring Sea business justify the expense of putting Paymaster Lyle Halford on double pay!

If President Cleveland really holds the slaves in contempt he is making a mistake. No man is contemptible who is powerful.

THE street railroads will come out of the depression very neatly. The profit on strip passengers will always pull the company through.

THERE are still some cool heads in Congress, and a joint resolution for mileage may be saved in the midst of the fury of the silver debate.

THE banks are being urged to exhibit some confidence as a starter. The depositor will soon be back when he sees that business is going on again.

THE official preparation for the School Board elections is a reminder to citizens of their duty. Steps should be taken to bring out good candidates and vote them in.

TO DISCHARGE incompetent Democrats from the city departments is right enough but what does it profit the tax payer if their places be filled with incompetent Republicans?

THE Northern Pacific receiverhip cannot be attributed to the money panic. The riotous financial policy of the company itself was bound to end in disaster and the stringency has only hastened what was inevitable.

THE general satisfaction at the Behring Sea decision is another evidence of the excellence of this mode of settling international disputes. When each party is honestly desirous of doing justice arbitration is the only rational tribunal.

Dr. T. L. Tillman succeeds in getting a trademark for his whisky packages he can compel Uncle Sam to bear the whole expense of litigation arising out of the peculiar institution he has set up. The Populist is not so innocent as he looks.

ATTY.-GEN. OLNEY declared that the anti-trust law "was unconstitutional and void," while acting as counsel for the Whisky Trust. Does his inactivity imply that he is of the same opinion still? Did Mr. Cleveland's selection of him for Attorney-General imply an endorsement of that opinion?

THE tramp who made a run on Farmer Collins' cupboard up in Maine, where $1,000 drawn from a bank had been placed for safety, was not so much excited as Farmer Collins appeared to be on finding that the depositor had disappeared. The Wandering Willies are making the most of the depression.

THE WORLD reminds Atty.-Gen. Olney that the Democratic platform pledges the party to prosecute and break up the trusts and that President Cleveland reinforced the pledge in his inaugural. Mr. Olney, however, seems to think these utterances were pure buncombe. It is much to be feared that he is not so good a Democrat as he is a corporation attorney.

MANY people will be astonished to read that certain Ohio banks have refused to cash the checks of the Standard Oil Co. When that gigantic and enormous wealth monopoly cannot get money out of a bank, what is an ordinary business organization to expect? Have the Ohio banks all been Fostered and McKinleyed?

JUSTICE HARLAN joins Baron de Courcel, Lord Hahn, Sir John S. D. Thompson, Marquis Emilio Visconti-Venosta and Gregero W. W. Gram in the Behring Sea decision. We must therefore conclude that the decision is right. Gregero W. W. Gram or some of the others might have gone wrong, but Justice Harlan has a judicial mind and a proper conception of what is due the American eagle.

SENATOR VEST'S BILL.

Senator Vest's new coinage bill indicates considerable antiquarian knowledge but there is nothing in it to show a clear understanding of the present monetary situation or the financial needs of the country.

The first section directs the coinage of silver dollars of ".464.4 grains of pure silver and 51 grains of standard silver; each half dollar shall contain 232.2 grains of pure silver and 255 grains of standard silver; the dime or 10 cent piece shall contain 46.4 grains of pure silver and 51.6 grains of standard silver."

The arbitrators could not seriously entertain the proposition to establish private ownership over so vast a body of open sea, but if they had sustained the point we would have lost more by our victory than by defeat. Great Britain would have been quick to adopt the ruling as a pretext for shutting us out of the Canadian fisheries and to use it to her advantage in all her Colonial possessions. Other nations would undoubtedly have seized the precedent as a basis of claim to jurisdiction over large parts of the common highways on the seas of all nations. It would have given rise to numerous costly and dangerous disputes. As a nation without colonial claims or possessions and without desire to enter into a policy of colonial acquisition in competition with European nations the United States would probably have been the greatest sufferers from such a ruling.

We are lucky therefore that we lost, and while the trial of this case by an arbitration tribunal is a shining example of the triumph of civilization it was in reality a costly farce growing out of an idiotic blunder.

Of course all the influences then at work do not now prevail, as only our own coins are to be legal tender, but the practice of maintaining parity between the unit and subsidiary coinage is vicious and has been found impolitic in practice. The small change should be removed from the hazards of exportation to which the unit is exposed from fluctuations of the metal's intrinsic value.

The provision in the fourth section putting an end to the legal tender quality of the present silver coinage at the expiration of two years is also liable to adverse criticism. The time given for the transition is too short. If we are to have a silver monometalism at all the coins now current and in the Treasury are likely to be needed to make payments.

Even from Senator Vest's own point of view these two provisions are indefensible. The bill as introduced is a crude essay, and will not be passed over the President's veto.

MR. CLEVELAND has let up on decapitations, but Major Walbridge is not following shining examples this year.

vate citizen who attempts forcible entrance into his house without showing a legal warrant, by force of arms if necessary. If pushed to extremities he is warranted in killing the invader in protection of his home from illegal invasion and his person and the persons of his household from illegal seizure. The officer who attempts to invade a house without a warrant assumes all the risks of resistance and subsequent punishment should he be in error.

The police should be protected in all legal efforts to catch law-breakers, but the rights of citizens cannot be trampled down to that end.

A VALUABLE DEFECT.

We have more cause for rejoicing over our defeat on the basic points of the dispute in the Behring Sea case than over our practical victory in securing stringent regulations for the protection of the Alaskan seal fisheries. The decision is the best that could have been rendered, and this fact is sufficient commentary on the folly of the mare clausum contention which Secretary Bayard set up by implication and which has made this Government ridiculous in the whole controversy with Great Britain.

The arbitrators could not seriously entertain the proposition to establish private ownership over so vast a body of open sea, but if they had sustained the point we would have lost more by our victory than by defeat. Great Britain would have been quick to adopt the ruling as a pretext for shutting us out of the Canadian fisheries and to use it to her advantage in all her Colonial possessions. COSMOPOLITAN BALL

All the Nations Will Trip the Light Fantastic To-Night.

WORLD'S FAIR DANCE TO BE LED BY GEORGE FRANCIS TRAIN.

The Festal Hall Richly Decorated With Turkish Rugs—Mr. Morgan Will Take the March With a Dahomeyan Amazon—Grand Fireworks to Accompany—Exposition News.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, Aug. 16.—Unique features seem to meet with popular favor at the World's Fair. The contests of various kinds between the denizens of darkest Africa, the barbarians from the wilds of Asia and savages from the isles of the sea, so far have proven to be decidedly popular with the public at the White City and it is probable they will be continued for some time to come. The international concert, the swimming contest and the regatta in which Indians, Dahomeyans, Chinese, South Sea Islanders and other barbarous and semi-barbarous people too have drawn tens of thousands of people to the Fair. The next unique feature is to be the international ball to-night. It will begin at 9 o'clock this evening and will be led by George Francis Train. Behind George Alfred Townsend, George Morgan and Mariette Rodriguez, two brunettes and a blonde, carrying the American and Mexican flags. Then will come the nations of the earth. Four abreast will be the nations, including the Japanese, Egyptians, Samoans, and the whole list of foreigners now at the Fair. Following Mr. Train they will march off several figures, and in the end form a circle in the center of which certain characters will be given. Two bands of music have been employed, and after the march they will mingle.

The hall has been richly decorated with Turkish rugs. Mr. Morgan has charge of the march and declares that he will take the first dance with a Dahomeyan Amazon if she will leave her sword at home. After the march the public will be admitted to the floor, and 4:30 a. m. is down for the carriage races. The ball is under direct order of the Commissioners' Club, and authorized by the officers of the exposition. Perfect order will be maintained.

About the time the ball begins the fireworks will begin an entertainment in the large hall of the Administration Building. A novelty that is promised is of a comical character. It will take shape as a huge elephant mounted on a chariot drawn by a team of apes, running wheels and colored fires.

There will be another great day at the Fair next Saturday. It will be the British Empire Day. Canada, Australia, New Zealand and other colonies, as well as the royal representatives and English exhibitors are combined to make an elaborate display. The royal commissioners have been instructed by his Government to officially recognize the day. There will be a parade in the downtown streets of the city, and the band will play to the effect that Julius Caesar, well known here, was killed by the conspirators in the Louvre and Nashville will be in St. Louis.

Mr. Dr. J. P. Garvin left yesterday for Terre Haute on a visit to old friends.

Mexican War Veterans.

MOTTELICO, Ill., Aug. 16.—The Mexican war veterans of Illinois met their annual reunion at River Park, Park, near Decatur, today. Hon. Wm. H. Buckley delivered the address of welcome, which was responded to by Maj. S. P. Tuff of Centralia. Among the speakers are Hon. Noy Perrin of Belleville, Hon. C. C. E. Holden of Chicago, Thomas J. O'Brien of St. Louis, and Frank Harrison of Louisville. Addresses were made by Major Harrison and various distinguished foreign representatives.

The work under the direction of Frank Millet and E. W. Curtis, preparing the physical portion of the work for poster day at the Exposition, Tuesday, Aug. 16, was well advanced. His firm at Jackson Park, supervising the artistic preparations and Duncan Harrison is now in New York closing up the arrangements in preparation for the opening of the noted plazas in America. The day promises to present a graceful tribute to dramatic art, and the march of the various nationalities of the participants, the open air production of "As You Like It" promises to be a magnificient and brilliant affair.

The striking chair-pushers have issued an appeal declaring they unmanly feel that rather than work at the reduced wage proposed by the company they may return home. In case they do so the company, on the hypocritical plea of interest to college boys, will be compelled to accept the offer of the Fair for men who will endeavor to secure other college boys who now have applications to be for the company, to supply them with the services of the chair pushers.

To these prospective chair boys the present roller submit that it will be better at present to remain at home and earn wages for a week or more than it will be if they come to the Fair for men who will endeavor to secure other college boys who now have applications to be for the company, to supply them with the services of the chair pushers.

The striking chair-pushers have issued an appeal to the public to have a chair roller to whom to go for room and board for a week or more than it will be if they come to the Fair for men who will endeavor to secure other college boys who now have applications to be for the company, to supply them with the services of the chair pushers.

CALDWELL'S REMAINS.

They were shipped by the Undertakers

Engaged by His Father.

The inquest on the remains of William J.

Caldwell was held late yesterday afternoon and a verdict of suicide was returned.

Caldwell, not himself in the heart last morning, at the residence of Mrs. Belle

Ance, 2617 Euclid avenue. Mrs. Caldwell testified that her husband grieved over a reference to himself and wife which appeared in a scurrilous Kansas City weekly and she thought his reason was dethroned when he fired the fatal shot. Mrs. Ance also testified to seeing Caldwell shoot himself.

No other witnesses were examined.

Last night the body was exhumed and placed in a funeral box by Bensiek &

Sheehan, the undertakers engaged by Caldwell's father, through Mr. D. Kriegel & Sons of Indianapolis, Ind., who removed the body of the deceased, according to the remains.
